Science Week Poster Competition

For your topic homework this half-term, we would like you to make a poster for British Science Week. The British Science Association would like to gather information on the question: What are children and young people's visions for a good/positive childhood?

Here are a couple of questions you could think about before starting your poster:

- What makes your lives positive?
- What will a positive childhood look like in the future for children your age?

Here are some prompts you could use to help you get started:

Posters should be on A4 or A3 paper.

We will be entering the best five posters into the Science Week competition.
